WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 29.

THE PRIME OF LIFE.—Between the ages of 45 and 60 a man who has properly regulated himself may be considered in the prime of life. His matured strength of constitution renders him almost invulnerable to an attack of disease, and experience has given soundness to his judgment. His mind is resolute, firm and equal; all his faculties are in the highest order; he as sumes mastery over his business; builds up a competence on the foundation he has laid in early manhood, and passes through a period of life attended by many gratifications. Having gone a year or two over a steady state still. But at last this is the vicissitude called the turn of life, which, if crossed in safety, leads to the valley of "old age," round which the river winds, and then beyond it, without boat or cause way, to effect his passage. The bridge is, however, constructed of fragile material, and it depends how it is trodden whether it bends or breaks. Gout or apoplexy are also in the vicinity to waylay the traveler and thrust him from the pass; but let him stir up his lungs and breathe himself with a little air, and he may trade on in safety and with perfect composure. To quit metaphor, "the turn of life" is a turn either into a prolonged walk or into the grave. The system and powers having reached the utmost expansion, now begin either to relax like a flower at sunset or break down at once. One trifling stimulant, a single fatal excitement, may force it beyond its strength, while a careful supply of props and the withdrawal of all that tends to force a plant will sustain it in beauty and vigor until night has entirely set in.
